

-
- Standing alone
 - Good defeating evil
 - Hope against despair
 - illumination

Does it help to light a candle?

Amnesty International stories use the 'candle and barbed wire': it's an almost iconic image. Give students an image of a candle with a large space for the flame and ask them to fill the space with images of resistance to evil or ideas on how we combat despair, or with the names of those for whom they pray, or to whom they wish compassion. They might use flaming colours for the writing.

Collect the written flames and make a display "bonfire of the vanities".